REPLY TO ATTENTION OF

AWCSL

21 March 1985

What is the responsibility of the professional whose perceptions of threats to society or to the nation differ from that of senior officials or the general public? How does that professional balance a personal desire for career advancement with demands for selfless service to the greater good? What is the essential relationship between society and its governing forces? What of the troubled officer who would pursue a mission differently than would his commander?

A professional in today's world, whether soldier, bureaucrat or business person, is confronted with myriad questions and challenges associated with the goals and objectives of the organization, and the manner in which they are accomplished. This bibliography is presented to display the broad range of materials available in the US Army War College Library -- materials expressly chosen to enhance the ability of senior leaders to logically assess the morally right and wrong choices available to them. Additional information and assistance is available through the compiler, Mrs. Virginia Shope, Course Coordination/Circulation Branch, US Army War College Library, Autovon 242-3310/Commercial (717)245-3310.

The views expressed in this paper are those of the author and do not necessarily reflect the views of the Department of Defense or any of its agencies. This document may not be released for open publication until it has been cleared by the appropriate military service or government agency.

I shall be telling this with a sigh...
Somewhere ages and ages hence:
Two roads diverged in a wood, and I--
I took the one less traveled by,
And that has made all the difference.
